

Urbanistica n. 137
 September-December 2008
 Distribution by www.planum.net

---

Paolo Avarello      An ocean of houses

---

Problems, policies, and research

edited by Mariavaleria Mininni      The planning for the landscape
Alberto Clementi      Landscape. Betrayal, innovation
Pierre Donadieu      Landscape studies in Europe: a difficult harmonization Mariavaleria Mininni      A culture for the landscape
Arturo Lanzani      Between two shores, looking for a land in between Pier Carlo Palermo      Dilemmas and divisions in the landscape culture. Disciplinary consequences

---

Projects and implementation edited by Paolo Galuzzi      The structural plan of Reggio Emilia

Graziano Delrio      The Municipal structural plan (Psc) of Reggio Emilia and the challenges of a new citizenship
Ugo Ferrari      For a city of person
Maria Sergio      The stages of the process
Giuseppe Campos Venuti      The reformist strategy of Reggio Emilia
Giuseppe Campos Venuti      A revolution in drawing up the plan
Rudi Fallaci      A new instrument for new policies
Maria Sergio      Services plan: the experience of the municipality of Reggio Emilia
Giuseppe Campos Venuti      Town planning equalization
Rudi Fallaci      'Rue', the crucial instrument for urban quality
Maria Sergio, Elisa Iori      Environment and ecological network
Oriol Bohigas      A new planning hopei

---

edited by Giuseppe Scaglione      Calabria in transformation: to project the future governing the present
Michelangelo Tripodi      A new season for town planning in Calabria
Maria Grazia Buffon      Guidelines of regional planning in Calabria
Rosaria Amantea      Competitiveness and attractiveness of Calabrian territorial systems
Alberto Ziparo      Substantive landscape and territorial sustainability
Giuseppe Fera      Structural planning in Calabria: some reflections
Giuseppe Scaglione      Snapshot: light versus shadows
Alberto Clementi      Between strategies for the territory and regional plans

---

Profiles and practices

Luca Fondacci      The future is dependent on the offering of the projects

The Municipal structural plan (Psc) of Reggio Emilia and the challenges of a new citizenshipGraziano Delrio*

We know very well that the city has always been a laboratory of social research and production, in which, especially today, the Europe of cities is being constructed, of which Reggio Emilia wishes to form part.

We are aware that the excellencies preserved by Reggio, and first and foremost those pinpointed by the Psc, are strong with their convictions and their well-entrenched, widespread experience.

The ever more 'liquid' borderline between shared identity and personal insecurity, between community cohesion and social and urban dispersion, is in need of a sort of 'strabismal' programming, able to place the city in broad-ranging perspectives, distant in time, simultaneously giving answers in the short term.

In the scenario of the Psc, the standpoint from which to start is the look that every person gives at the places in their everyday aspect.

The demand to which we are required to find an answer is that of enhancing the quality of life of the persons and of the places where they live. In outlining the future we continue to indicate not the rush towards private spaces, but the centrality of public spaces, as an answer to the feeling of uprootedness of one's own identity.

Such is the material of the Psc, when contending with the Plan of services for increased social cohesion, or with the Mobility plan, which deals with sustainable mobility. When we speak about productive 'Poles' or centres, or Poles of excellence, we are speaking about places where it is possible to work and produce while respecting the environment.

This idea of a supportive, open city, dedicated to persons, rests on solid foundations (the ancient polis) in which every person and every space is entitled to citizenship when they are the object of mutual care and responsibility. We want to be inspired by this style of citizenship for the Psc that is designing our future Reggio.